Words from Our National Director

*“Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength. These commandments that I give you today are to be on your hearts.”
Deuteronomy 6:5-6*

This message, given by Moses to the people of Israel and given to us in the book of Deuteronomy, has been central in guiding our reflection and mission as CECE throughout 2020. We have explored what it means to remember, love, listen to and choose life as disciples of Jesus in the University and in our workplaces. 2020 has been a very challenging year: the local and global impact of COVID-19, the extended time of quarantine, the loss of loved ones, a deep economic crisis, the change to online study, the negative impact to relational and mental health for many people.

In the midst of these difficult times, it is a great joy to share that CECE has continued to serve with compassion, creativity, and constancy to share Christ in the universities.

Currently, we are privileged to work with 50 Student Coordinators who serve and share about Jesus with their classmates every week in their University Group Bible Studies. Throughout the year there has been an average of 30 University Groups proclaiming the gospel and exploring scripture with an average of 187 students participating each week on 25 university campuses in 12 cities throughout the country. Through new contacts who have participated in online workshops during quarantine, four new University Groups have been planted in the cities of Tena, Latacunga, Guayaquil and Milagro. Three groups of Professionals/Alumni continue to meet regularly and 75 profesionales participated in a national online event. We thank God for our Graduate Volunteers who have joined with local student groups to help the ministry with their time and gifts. We also celebrate the growth and impact of the Faith and Art Dialogue spaces. We have been able to respond with compassion to physical needs of students with food packs and their pastoral needs by walking alongside many students and graduates impacted by COVID. With creativity and constancy we have shared and served through over 30 weekly national online spaces which have included celebrations, prayer times and workshops.

This fruitful work has not occurred by itself. While university students are at the heart of mission, there are other members of the CECE team who sacrificially contribute so this witness can take place. Here I must mention the National Board, the Staff Team, the National Student Committee, the Communication Team and our Ministry Partners and supporting churches. Thank you for being part of reaching the University with the gospel. Thank you for being CECE de Corazón!

CECE National Director

Ministry to University Students

The heart of CECE's mission is to proclaim, disciple, and send out in service. In the following section, we will share the different spaces and ways we do this as a community.

University Group Bible Studies

University Group Bible Studies are a central part and the core of mission in universities. They are small groups of students that share about Jesus through life in community, acts of service, and weekly investigative Bible studies.

Currently, we have an average of 30 University Group Bible Studies meeting in 25 universities throughout 12 cities in Ecuador with about 187 students participating every week. This year we explored the books of Deuteronomy and Luke through Bible studies. Due to the pandemic, all meetings have been virtual since March, but we have seen a transformative impact in the lives of Christian and non-Christian students who attend consistently.

“During the study of Deuteronomy, I have learned the importance of obedience and love. I liked it a lot because it is like a guide for life, with promises, rebukes, and warnings. It has helped me to remember and get on the right track.”

— María Villamagua, student from Loja

Another way of proclaiming the gospel has been through workshops organized by each University Group Bible Study with the goal of responding to the specific needs of their classmates. Some topics groups have reviewed are Tips for Successful Study and Living with the Black Cloud. These workshops allow us to share the love of God in very practical ways and strengthen friendships and community. Other workshops focused on proclaiming the gospel during our experience of COVID, for example, Purposeful Conversations and Tips for Self-care during Quarantine.

Breaking New Ground

A very important part of proclamation, discipleship and service occurs within our Pioneer Groups, which are University Group Bible Studies on new campuses or universities. Although working with Pioneer Groups has always been a part of CECE's DNA, we have seen increased growth thanks to the guidance and coordination of Staff Worker, Guadalupe Muñoz, who began serving in a national role focused on Pioneer Groups earlier this year.

National workshops and social media contacts have been key to connecting with new students. We developed a series of six workshops to train students interested in planting a new University Group Bible Study, which have been well-received and have allowed for the development of Student Coordinators committed to facilitating these new groups. Despite the challenges of virtual ministry, we have seen it as a gift from God to be able to plant new groups and, as a result, surpass our goal of establishing three Pioneer Groups per year, planting a total of four in 2020. You will find a list of current Pioneer Groups in the following table.

“I had always wanted to be a part of a Christian group where I could open up and be around others with the same desire for the Word. For a few reasons, I had to change universities, which led me to Tena, and in this hectic moment in my life I heard about CECE and its work in the University. Now, being able to be part of Tena’s Pioneer Group is a true blessing. This has allowed me, once again, to see God’s work in my life.”

— Daniela Chávez, student from Tena

National Student Committee (CNE)

CECE and IFES’ ministerial philosophy is students reaching students. We believe in the formation and discipleship of leaders. The National Student Committee (CNE) is the space for student representation and participation at a national level, a space for leadership and service. These students work on the content for and facilitation of our National Camp, national events and other discipleship spaces. The CNE met every two weeks via Zoom and had two virtual retreats this year.

We want to thank and recognize our 2020 CNE members: Jaritza Aráuz, Kevin Granda, Gladys Chimborazo, Nicolle Herrera, Johanna Chele, Paula Torres, David Vera, Tatiana Vera, Eduardo Gutiérrez and Debbi Pesántez.

“By serving in the CNE, I have learned to appreciate CECE’s work in the various cities, where it fulfills a very important role, and I have learned a lot about the behind-the-scenes work necessary to carry out our mission with university students.”

— Tatiana Vera, student from Quito

National Camp

Our National Camp was held from March 4th to 8th in Manglaralto with 118 participants, 24 of them professionals and 20% new students. We also had various students from Pioneer Groups present this year.

"Every day I was at the Camp, God showed me something different from my past, something that had to be healed, overcome, and dealt with to move forward. In the mornings, when I went out for a run, I thought, what will God have to say to me today? With that question, I attended the Tell your story workshop. I never imagined how meaningful it is to tell the story of how God came into your life and, in my case, the story of how God revived my life. I feel challenged to tell my story to others, the story of the Lord telling me: 'I am here and I will remain with you.'"

— Marcelo López, student from Quito

The goal of National Camp is to strengthen the missionary capacities of university students to live out, share, and dialogue the gospel of Jesus Christ where they study. Throughout the book of Deuteronomy and using the question, "What do you choose?", we shared five days together of devotionals, plenaries, workshops and worship, as well as games and community activities. This year, the Bible expositions were shared by two students, two Staff, and a guest, Ben Carswell, the National Director of TSCF (IFES, New Zealand). We were able to see increased interaction of students from different cities, which has greatly strengthened the sense of community at the national level. We appreciate the excellent work of the CNE, Staff Team, and our expositors.

Faith and Art Dialogue

The Faith and Art Dialogue space began four years ago during the “Responding to the Word” segment and several forums during National Camp. The main objective is to become familiar with and explore the dialogue between art and faith, and thus, reflect the character of our creator God.

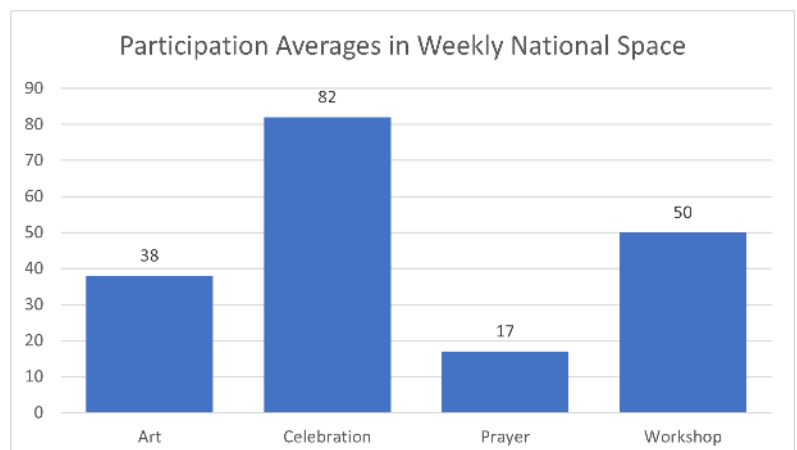

During 2020, we have explored topics including: the work of creating, the vocation of the artist, art and social justice, a virtual visit to museums, and a rich dialogue with the text of Deuteronomy in two art exhibitions: one at National Camp and another in a virtual format. Some achievements include: the integration of new students interested in exploring faith through art, offering a place to process the painful experiences of COVID, modeling dialogue between art and the biblical text, and the interaction of around 25-30 participants in the monthly meetings. The challenge ahead is to further integrate art in the evangelistic and discipleship areas of CECE.

Weekly National Space

This space is a national effort that arose during the first weeks of quarantine in the country and grew during April with our CECE de Corazón initiative. Due to the excellent response in participation, every Wednesday night a national gathering was offered including prayer spaces, celebrations, Faith and Art Dialogue, and workshops. We have had 18 workshops throughout the year covering topics such as: A Passion for Learning, In Times of Corona and Quarantine, Tips for Time Management, Lament and Grief, and Conflict Resolution. These workshops developed key elements such as: Bible, prayer, mental health, ministry skills, and the Faith and Arts Dialogue. The workshops have evangelistic, service, and discipleship objectives. Below, you can review a table which gives details about this weekly space.

Type	# Events	Average # of Participants
Art	4	38
Celebration	4	82
Prayer	4	17
Workshop	18	50
Total	30	48

We thank the Lord for the fruit seen as a result of this initiative, including: the planting of CECE groups in new cities, the strengthening of University Group Bible Studies, and the connection to new students and professionals. Over 100 people have given their contact information to become actively involved with CECE since May.

"For me, the CECE workshops have been a guide to reflect on what is happening. They have allowed me to keep my hope in the right place, in God, and only then change internally and take another step."

— Josselyn Ayuy, student from Quito

CECE de Corazón

This year, in April, we developed a new national initiative, CECE de Corazón (Wholeheartedly CECE). Throughout the month, we connected via weekly workshops, two celebratory events, and testimonies shared on social networks with the purpose of celebrating CECE's anniversary and making four areas of ministry visible: Mission in the University, Staff Team, Pioneer Groups, and the CECE House.

We hope that this event will become an annual one, especially when we can celebrate it in-person. We thank God for this initiative that helped us reconnect with our community, reach thousands of new people throughout the month, and establish spaces for discipleship, evangelism, and service during the first weeks of quarantine. We encourage you to learn more about all CECE de Corazón meant through the playlist on our YouTube channel.

Liturgy Workshop

In June, we had 35 individuals participating in our Liturgy Workshop with the theme: "Songs of Lament and Hope". Together we explored the importance of lament from the biblical text as an essential part of living out faith in the midst of a crisis.

InterVarsity Virtual Visit

The InterVarsity/USA Global Programs initiative, "We are IFES", organized virtual visits to student movements to learn about the reality and ways of doing ministry around the world. CECE hosted two virtual meetings on July 8th and 10th. It was a time of sharing stories of mission and encouraging each other in the faith through testimonies, prayer, and music. For us, student exchanges (even virtually) are a way to strengthen relationships with sister movements and thus, to learn more about IFES.

"InterVarsity's visit was very useful to make it known that CECE is part of an international movement and that we are very active, even during a pandemic. It was very good for everyone to share testimonies and meet new students. In addition, it was important to look at the situation in another country and pray together."

— Tommy Proaño, student from Quito

National Student Leader Formation Event (EFE)

"One of the most relevant topics for me was "Tools for the mission." I learned more about the vision of this group of Christian students for the proclamation of the gospel of Jesus Christ. Now I can see my context in a new way, in which I can be an influential disciple of Jesus in my university. It was my first time attending EFE, and I can assure you that God nurtured my heart from beginning to end."

— Juan Andrade, student from Milagro

On September 4th and 5th, 90 Student Coordinators (25 new), Graduate Volunteers, and the Staff Team participated in EFE. The event title was: "Nurturing the Heart of the Student Leader". Through Zoom, we shared plenaries and workshops to strengthen CECE identity and our sense of community in mission. We explored the leadership of Moses, mental health issues, healthy relationships, and ministry skills such as planning and facilitating University Group Bible Studies. We also participated in community spaces including art, cooking, exercise, and games. Students were trained and challenged to carry out the mission in their own universities.

World Student Day

Every year, in October, we participate in World Student Day, which brings together our global movement to celebrate what God is doing in the world's universities through IFES. On this day, we pray for each other and for the needs and opportunities of the coming year. The 2020 theme was "Far and Near." COVID-19 has impacted the educational context for everyone. It has changed the shape of our mission, but not its heart.

As CECE, we organized a national celebration and participated in a prayer night with the Andean sub-region (Colombia, Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador), with about 160 participants. Some University Group Bible Studies connected with other IFES movements to learn about the context of mission in different countries. Others, in their weekly meetings, devoted time to pray for their universities, for Ecuador, and for the mission in universities around the world. We are always encouraged to belong to this great family.

Fondotón 2021: Fondotón From Home

Fondotón changed its presentation, but not its heart. Fondotón From Home was held on Saturday, November 14, with 145 registered participants, and 120 participants connected during the live event. Students, professionals, Staff Workers, families, and Ministry Partners connected via Zoom for an hour of exercise, stretching, dance, and nutritional tips.

Preparing for Fondotón From Home, we had a series of nine challenges in our #FondotonChallenge through TikTok and Instagram. We saw great interaction on social media and the excitement of our students as they completed and shared the challenges. We reached more than 15,000 views on Instagram Reels with this initiative.

The goal was to raise $1,000, and God provided $1,200! We were very encouraged by this virtual fundraising experiment and we praise the Lord for His provision. If you are interested in giving toward the Fondotón From Home initiative, there is still time! To make your donation, you can follow the steps in the "Partner with Us" section of this Report. All the offerings help provide resources and training in evangelism and discipleship throughout the year. Thank you so much for taking part!

"In this year of changes, Fondotón meant hope, in word and action. At the same time, it was the reassuring presence that we are God's people and that His work never ends."

— Andrea Escobar, student from Quito

Ministry to Professionals/Alumni

In order to explore the relationship between faith and work from the Scriptures, we have continued to work with professionals. Three groups have met weekly or biweekly in Quito, Riobamba and Guayaquil, with an average of 26 participants. Materials such as: Where is God on Monday?, They will have new strength, Boundaries, Community life, Letters to Malcolm, and Studies from John's Gospel have been reviewed. In order to keep connected with Local Groups through concrete support, we appreciate the constant presence of professionals in local and national activities such as celebrations, prayer times, national workshops, Fondotón, etc.

"My time in CECE when I was a student marked my life. I am very glad because I have seen the Lord's faithfulness with my classmates and now, as a professional, after many years, I am able to meet them again, virtually. It was always my wish to be in the professionals group. However, activities at work, time, and distance were a problem. During these months, the Lord resolved all of this and since I started to meet with the professionals, it has been very edifying. God is always instructing us and renewing our understanding, and what better way to do it than in community?"

— Soraya Estévez, professional from Quito

National Event for Professionals/Alumni

We are very glad that this year we were able to organize the first National Virtual Event for Professionals titled: "The heart of the disciple in professional life", which took place virtually on Friday, July 31st and Saturday, August 1st. The program featured a plenary session, devotional, group activities, and workshops with the following topics: Social transformation: The role of a believer in public space, Recovering Life's rhythms, Caring for relational health in times of COVID-19, and Entrepreneurship at Kingdom service. Here are two summary tables of the 72 participants:

"Sabbath and work are not opposites, they are related as an integral whole". As professionals, we know that dealing with daily events is not an easy task. However, this event encouraged us even more to love others with the love of Jesus Christ, and above all, the event opened our hearts to serve His Kingdom. We encourage all future professionals to not lose heart and continue proclaiming the gospel from wherever we are."

— Luis y Geovanna Flores, professionals from Quito

Graduate Volunteers

We would like to thank a group of Graduate Volunteers who have given part of their time and gifts for the benefit of Local Groups. The objective of having these volunteers has been to strengthen the Staff Team in their labor of accompanying and sustaining new University Groups' growth. This group of volunteers received six training workshops and have helped with specific tasks such as accompanying University Group Bible Studies and coordinating the Professionals/Alumni Groups.

We are very grateful for the service of 15 Graduate Volunteers in 4 cities: Leidy Marín, Jemima Vallejo, Nathaly Chamba, Diego España, Miguel Peñafiel, Karolyne Saltos, Diana Cortés, Mariuxi Baque, María José Cedeño, Ginger Salazar, Félix Pozo, Edison Vasquéz, Jeremy Guaña, Sara Terán, Angie Defáz, Carolina Cevallos and Raquel Chinchin.

Staff Team

We want to recognize the effective and consistent pastoral work of our CECE Staff Team: Julia Henrich (Riobamba), Cristina Chiluzza (Ambato), William Murillo, Guadalupe Muñoz, Lizandro Bravo, Glenda Medina (Guayaquil), Jouseth Moya, Brett Schaffner, Ruth Tobar, Andrea Utreras, Adrián Coral, Daniel Castillo, Wendy Panchi (Quito) and Carlos Ruiz (Loja).

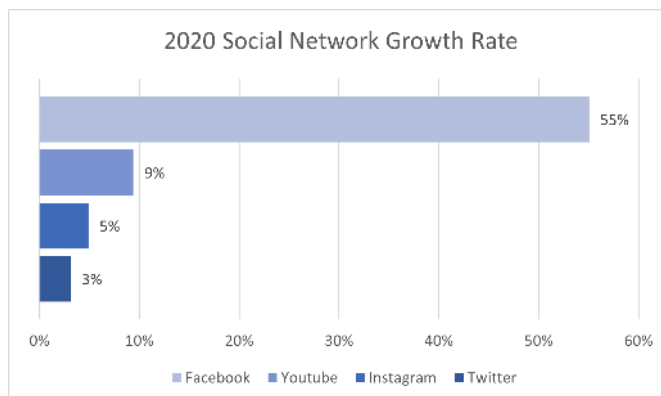

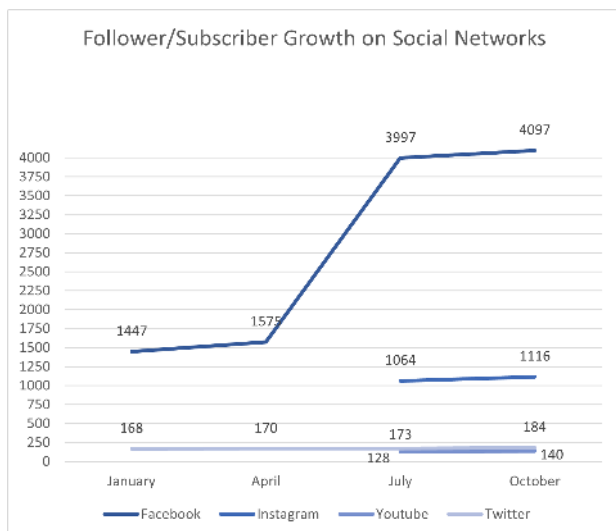

The Staff Team meetings every two weeks and two virtual annual retreats have been important spaces to nourish the team. This year, Lizandro Bravo, Glenda Medina and Wendy Panchi joined our Staff Team as Junior Staff. Our Staff Worker Carlos Ruiz is on temporary leave due to his wife's health issues. In the midst of the extra challenges, our Staff Team's dedication and service have been important in sustaining campus ministry.

Communications Team

We are thankful for the constant and creative work of our National Communications Team. The core team is: Brett Schaffner, Ruth Tobar, Daniel Macías and Martín Utreras. This team has maintained weekly meetings as well as a monthly meeting with the larger Comms Support Team as well as two annual virtual retreats. Some of the important roles this team manages in our internal and external communications are: periodic website updates, management of our social networks, the implementation of Workplace to optimize CECE's internal communication, as well as the monthly Info CECE Liderazgo and quarterly Info CECE Socios de Misión newsletters.

Our presence on social networks has seen a noticeable increase this year, which is one of the factors that has helped us reach new students during quarantine. This is thanks to the constant and creative work of the Communications Team. In the following table you can see some of the numerous projects the Communications Team managed this year and in the following graphics you can see the growth in our various social networks.

National Board

The National Board guides and ensures institutional governance. The Board is composed of ten members chosen at our General Assembly; also participating in the National Board are the National Director and two student representatives from the CNE. The National Board oversees our ministerial, administrative and organizational health, meeting quarterly and maintaining constant communication between members and with the National Director to provide support, accompaniment and supervision in the advancement of our mission in the universities of Ecuador.

This year, the impacts of COVID-19 have caused challenges in terms of the communication, coordination and care of our organization. The current situation has required University Group Bible Studies, Student Coordinators, Staff, National Director and National Board to continue working using virtual resources, with all the demands and stresses this brings. In this context, caring for each person that is a part of our community is a priority and the National Board has taken necessary steps to overcome the challenges our current reality presents. As such, the Board has continuously supported the ministry with timely decisions facilitating the proclamation of the gospel in such extraordinary times.

- For Ecuador, with the challenges the impact COVID-19 has caused and the upcoming presidential elections.

Vision for the Future

2020 has been a year like no other, with much pain and uncertainty, but also with opportunities. We have journeyed with the book of Deuteronomy which has shaped and transformed our hearts, and will continue to do so. Some of the questions we will continue to reflect on are: How can we nurture a heart that will remember, love, listen, and choose life? How do we love God from our particular place of study or work?

We have discovered and learnt a lot through the text in relation to how to live as a community throughout COVID and that God's law was given with the intention of protecting and promoting the life and wellbeing of the whole community, as well as the individual. We are thankful for God's faithfulness which has allowed us to serve with compassion, creativity and constancy, sharing Christ in the universities and workplaces of Ecuador.

We look toward the new year with hope and we launch into the adventure of exploring together 2021's book of the year: Acts of the Apostles, with the theme: Interwoven by the Spirit, sent into mission. We will get to know and learn from the small communities empowered by the Holy Spirit who were sent to cross geographic, cultural and ethnic boundaries to share the good news. We invite you to join this community, interwoven, empowered and sent by the Holy Spirit, to share the gospel in the midst of the current challenges. Welcome to being a part of this story of mission during 2021!
